Holding Deposit.

A holding deposit secures the property for you by taking it off the market. You agree on a deposit amount with the Seller. which is held safely by Gazeal in an FCA Protected Bank account. If you pull out without a valid reason, the Seller keeps your deposit. If the Seller pulls out for any reason, you get your deposit refunded in full.

Reservation Guarantee

For Buyers who want certainty without tying up large sums of money, Gazeal's Guarantee is the smartest way to commit. Instead of paying a holding deposit, you pay a small fee starting from £600 (inc. VAT) to guarantee a £2,000 commitment (or more if needed). The Seller matches this commitment, ensuring both parties are protected. If either party pulls out unreasonably, the innocent party is compensated.

- Mutual commitment from both Buyer and Seller
- If the Seller withdraws unfairly, you get your compensation
- Gazeal guarantees compensation payment

This option offers more balance and protection for both parties. You place a deposit with Gazeal, and both you and the Seller agree on mutual compensation if either party pulls out unreasonably. This compensation is not paid upfront and is guaranteed by Gazeal. If the Seller withdraws, you receive your deposit back plus the agreed compensation amount. If you withdraw unfairly, your holding deposit is forfeit.

Step 2: Lock In Your Commitment with Terms and Exclusivity

Once the parties have agreed on the commitment path:

You secure an exclusivity period (up to 6 months), where the Seller agrees not to market the property to other Buyers.

Both parties agree on a clear timeline and terms for exchanging contracts.

Your Commitment is secured, either with the Gazeal Guarantee or a Holding Deposit

Step 3: Gazeal Protects Your Purchase to Exchange

With the agreement or deposit in place:

Exchange of contracts expected and both parties are locked-in to the terms agreed.

Breaking the agreement before exchange triggers a penalty. The defaulting party pays the agreed compensation to the innocent party.

If the defaulting party doesn't pay, Gazeal provides a 100% guarantee that the compensation is paid to the innocent party swiftly.

Using Gazeal to secure my proposed purchase gave me the confidence that I would not be gazumped. I think I really only appreciated it, once I had exchanged and completed. Prior to that, although it made sense, I felt it was just an extra expense. However, I am pleased I used Gazeal to help secure my purchase, rather than get so far and it all go pear shaped. When my purchase took a little longer than expected, I was contacted by Gazeal and offered an additional length of time, for no further charge, to enable me get to the point of exchange, without the concern of the deal falling through. The seller and purchaser both have to commit to the agreement. Despite the additional expense it gives both parties the confidence that the other is serious and intends to go through with the sale/purchase, giving the required time for solicitors/conveyancers to do their work.
